

ROBERT CONQUEST

Research Fellow

Expertise: Russian and world politics and history

Robert Conquest is the author of seventeen books on history, politics, and international affairs, including The Great Terror (1968), which has been translated into more than twenty languages, and Stalin: Breaker of Nations (1991). Together with volumes of poetry, criticism, verse translation, and fiction, his most recent book is Reflections on a Ravaged Century (1999). He is also a frequent contributor to the New York Review of Books, the Times Literary Supplement, and other journals. The holder of a D. Litt. in Soviet history from Oxford University, he is a fellow of the British Academy and a research associate of Harvard University's Ukrainian Research Institute. In 1994, he was named the Jefferson Lecturer in the Humanities, the highest award the U.S. government bestows for distinguished intellectual achievement.